Plus-Ribbon™ vs. Manufacturer Originals

Ever wondered if purchasing Plus-Ribbon™ is better than buying manufacturer own brands?

Printer ribbons can be one of the most costly expenses for any organisation especially if you're issuing a lot of printed cards. There are various generic compatible manufacturers around the world and we've tested them and each time we were disappointed with inferior print quality and UV degradation testing.

Frustrated by the results, Eagle sought to find a partner to perfect them and once established we commenced an 18 month development programme in order to perfect and match user expectations.

One of the printing world mysteries is how the cost of printers have dropped so dramatically, yet ribbon costs have remained constant over the years, well, not of late, with today's exchanges rates, prices are creeping up globally.

“ Just an average of 10 to 20 original colour ribbons can equal the value you paid for your card printer. Anyway you look at it, that's bad mathematics and money that could be better spent helping your business become more profitable.

So...Generally speaking - What's in a Brand Name?

Everything! In general, whether you are talking about canned vegetables, clothing or electronics, we love brand name products. If you spend more than ten minutes watching television, you will be bombarded with advertisements for any number of things for your mind, body and home, and office. This is the main reason that brand name products cost so much. Companies spend billions to make sure the viewing public has their name embedded in their memories. So when they go shopping they move right past their competitors and pick up their item

What most people don't realise is that many compatible products are manufactured using the same components, sometimes by subsets of brand name companies and sometimes in the same manufacturing facilities.

Eagle Technologies is dedicated to delivering only quality products to its customers. This is why we check the quality of every product we promote including the companies we partner with.
